

so much it hurts

i want you so much it hurts i love you more than i have ever loved and more than i ever will love i need you more than any other needs you i want you more than i have ever wanted and more than anyone could ever want you are the most beautiful woman in the world more sexy than anyone on earth the most amazing woman alive i have more fun with you than with any other you make me happier than anyone else could you are seductive tantalizing enchanting you are the only woman left in my world i dont want anyone else they could never compare to you when i look at other women i dont want them because they are not you you are the only one for me and there is nobody else i dont want to live without you i love you i need you i want you so much it hurts

by Michael
(Mike Ilett)